THE GETTYSBURG ASYLUM SWINDLE.

REPORT OF THE CONGRESS COMMITTEE OF IN-VESTIGATION. The Committee on Retrenchment, to whom was referred the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, giving the reasons why the scheme, known as the Gettysburg Asylum for invalid soldiers, was exempt from the payment of special tax, would report: That they examined many witnesses, among them some of the originators of the scheme, and interested in its success, and

Before the close of the war, a prominent and wealthy tobaccorist of New-York City. Mr. John Anderson, for greater security, invested largely in dismonas, paying for the same, as was clamed, between $152,050 and $250,000. A portion thereof, and the last lot obtained, were in some particulars tunned with fraud. Criminal wroccedings were instituted by Mr. Anderson and his friends. So great was the crime, and so clear the proof, that the symdlers were aresicd. No other diamonds four these are advertised in the Gettysburg lottery. After the war, Government bonds advanced, while diamonds four these are advertised in the Gettysburg lottery. After the war, Government bonds advanced, while diamonds four these windlers were arresicd. No other diamonds four these are advertised in the Gettysburg lottery. After the war, Government bonds advanced, while diamonds purchased with gold at 200 and 250 rapidly declined. Mr. Anderson wanted to realize on his diamonds, and also expressed a desire to aid disabled soldiers—both objects commentable if pursued in an upright and legal manner. After due deliberation by some friends gathered at Mr. Anderson's house—among them one or more prominent gentlemen from the State of Pennsylvanna—an enterprise to establish an asylumat Gettysburg was agreed upon, and at the outset the nature of the scheme is manifested by fire character and the men obtained to carry out the design Experts of large experience in that which was to be its leading feature, and who were valuable by reason of their knowledge of the devices whereby the laws against gambling could be evaded, the credulous entrapped, the moralist and the Christian assured that vice was only an exterior under cover of which piety and charity might be fully developed, were required, and R. France, P. A. Edgerton, and S. T. begindruer from lega denormations and earlier brokes the position, on, if possible, where no prohibition existed, so thory could make an attempt for incorporation. Judge smith pursued the inquiry, and indust time reported that the State of the could make an attempt for incorporation and the state of the state, present and not make an attempt of the state, present and horizing fairs—the act nowhere justifying a lottery such as they advertised. Ten thousand obliats, advanced by Mr. Anderson, were paid into the Treasury of Permay-vania, A meeting of the trustees was called. More of the trustees in the build. The mask is now removed. A resolution passed making France, Edgerion, and Dickinson members of the association. The master spirits step inpon the boards. Authorite resolution is passed making that he before each disposition of property $10,000 should be paid into the Treasury. This contemplated thirty different dispositions. The programme was almong and the state of the state o processes a prassorthy see, and intended to sid a notic charage but that he has been pervicinced that the scheme has been perviced to fraudelant purposes, and he desires to withdraw the recommendation has then made."

This scheme uses the protext of benealt to disabled soldiers. In their manne we protest against the prostitution of sympathy for their scars and empty sleeves, and holy impulses of charity for their mistortunes to furnish a market for certain property at fightious values and large profits to men whether of acknowledged wealth and social position, or needy adventurers and professed gendiers. After the difficulty in Pennsylvania, France & Co. were elhowed out, on the ground, as alleged by one witness, that their character as lottery men was injuring the concern; yet that character was the only consideration for their employment, and after the proof is that not sufficient money has yet been realized to meet expenses. The prospect of any drawing is very remote. Mr. Hitchcock testified that the expenses were about $80,000 more than the receipts, only $20,000 having been received. He also established that some of the trustees met at Philadelphia, on the 10th January, 188, and passed a resolution that the net proceeds of the concern should be appropriated to the object of the charity, the passage of such resolution at so late a day cannot relieve the scheme from the charges made, and, like the withdeawal of the farm, are certainly suspicious if not conclusive evidence against it. At the same time a resolution to make a contract with Mr. Hitchrock for the management of the affairs, and that contract may be so made as to swallow up a portion of the whole of the profits. Lofteries and gambling of all kinds are conclusive evidence against it, at the same time a resolution to make a contract with Mr. Hitchrock for the moustagement of the affairs,
